Chest Drive Passes Halfway Mark

Salem's Community Chest drive for $61,295 passed the halfway mark today with pledges and contributions totaling $32,295.

Happy over the success of the first week of the "Red Feather" campaign, these Chest workers met at the downtown Chest thermometer sign as the mercury inched upward. Pictured left to right at the sign, which is on the Village Green, are William Mehno of the E. W. Bliss Co., representing the industrial committee; Mrs. Esther Messersmith, captain of the clubs and organizations committee; Charles Haldi, captain of the payroll deductions group, and (at right)

General Chairman Robert Oswald.

Team workers are challenged by Mr. Oswald to renew their solicitations Monday as the final week of the campaign begins. "The future operations of 11 local agencies depend on our raising the $28,624 balance," he said.

Van Doren Role In TV Probe Question Mark

FCC Officials Called To Give Testimony At Hearing Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen looking into the rigging of television quiz shows go into an overtime session today with two big questions still hanging fire. They are:

1. Will Charles Van Doren, the first big jackpot winner on the quiz shows, accept a challenge to explain his role in the scandal-tainted "Twenty-One" program?
2. If he continues to ignore invitation to testify will a subpoena be issued ordering him to appear?

Van Doren, a one-time Columbia University English instructor who skyrocketed to fame while winning $129,000 on "Twenty-One," consistently has denied any knowledge of the show's being fixed.

Suspended Two Days

The National Broadcasting Co., with whom he has a $50,000 a year contract as a TV commentator, suspended him two days ago, pending a final determination by the House inquiry.

Other "Twenty-One" contestants have testified that the show was fixed. But they did not accuse Van Doren of taking part in the fix.

The subcommittee called Chairman John C. Doerfer and other members of the Federal Communications Commission to explain today why they didn't crack down on the quiz show rigging.

The subcommittee, which originally planned to wind up its probe Friday night, also announced it will meet Monday to hear representatives of the Federal Trade Commission. The FTC, which, among other things, polices advertising practices, also proclaims lack of jurisdiction in the quiz show fixing.

Subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) refused comment on possible witnesses Monday. But his group apparently has not abandoned the possibility of questioning Van Doren.

Ordered To Appear Monday

Harris Friday reminded quiz show producer Daniel Enright that he still is under subpoena and ordered him to be on hand for Monday's session.

Enright and an assistant, Albert Freedman, are reliably reported to have mentioned Van Doren several times during a four-hour closed-door session with the subcommittee last Wednesday night. The nature of their testimony was not disclosed.

So far, Van Doren has remained silent to a telegraphed invitation that he tell his side of the story, despite open suggestions by some subcommittee members that he be subpoenaed.

57 Blood Donors Fail to Report

Fifty-seven of the 133 volunteer blood donors who previously registered failed to keep their appointments at Friday's visit of the Cleveland Regional Bloodmobile in the First Methodist Church and as a result, only 85 pints were collected. The goal was 125 pints.

Cost of bringing the unit here is too great for collections under 12 pints, and area citizens are urged by Red Cross officials to cooperate in fulfilling the quota set for Salem.

Miss Hazel Linn, executive director of the Red Cross Chapter, said it is hoped that many new donors will sign up for the Dec. 8 visit of the bloodmobile so that at least 190 pints can be collected to make up for the deficit in the past two collections.

Only a few of the donors were rejected yesterday because of illness. The greater number "just didn't show up," Miss Linn said.

Scouting Helps Many Boys Here

Approximately 660 Salem boys belong to 16 Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer Posts in the city. There are an additional 34 adult leaders who serve on the district or council operating committees and executive board.

The Community Fund has set aside $6,000 for the Boy Scouts. This amounts to $9.09 per boy for the complete year's program.

Scouting activities in the Columbiana Council have increased greatly during the past year. The Council operates two camps which are used by the Salem units. Camp Twin Spruce on Leesville Lake is primarily a summer camp with facilities for canoeing, boating, swimming, archery, marksmanship, knot instruction, pioneering

Red Chinese Not Thawing

Give Evidence of Continuing Cold War

TOKYO (AP)—Red China gave clear new evidence tonight that despite the wishes of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev — it has no intention of ending the cold war with the United States.

One of Peking's propaganda mouthpieces, the newspaper Ta Kung Pao, accused Washington of aggressive plans against Communist China and rejected any idea of renouncing the use of force to settle the Formosa dispute.

A call for renouncing force or war to solve international disputes was the keynote of the communiqué issued after the Camp David talks between President Eisenhower and Khrushchev late last month.

The Ta Kung Pao article charged that U.S. Far Eastern policy was one "of preparing for war and launching aggression, antagonizing China, interfering in its internal affairs and occupying its territory of Taiwan (Formosa)."

This has been the theme of high-ranking Red Chinese leaders since the visit to Peking of the Soviet Premier, who had asked the Mao Tse-tung regime to join him in a campaign to reduce tensions throughout the world.

Khrushchev left the Chinese capital last Sunday without any such commitment from Mao.

Mother, Daughter Hurt In Accident

Two persons were injured slightly Friday afternoon when a driver reached down to quiet a small dog jumping around on the front seat of her auto.

Mary Ellen Summers, 22, of RD 2, East Liverpool and one-year-old Anna Marie Summers were treated by a Wellsville physician for bruises after the driver lost control of her sedan on a curve on Rt. 39 near Wellsville and left the road.

The auto knocked down 42 feet of wooden guard railing, the Lisbon post Highway Patrol reported, and then tore up 10 feet of barbed wire fence. The accident, which occurred at 3:45 p.m. is still being investigated by the Patrol.

Faces Charge In Mishap That Killed 10

Trucker In Fatal Crash Had List of Violations

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N. J. — "Don't panic." The girls panicked as the loaded bus became an inferno.

The driver of another truck behind Poe's during the collision told police Poe was doing 35 miles an hour. The bus was slowing to a stop from five miles an hour at a traffic light installed just three months ago.

The panel headed by George W. Taylor, a skilled labor disputes arbitrator and former chairman of the War Labor Board and Wage Stabilization Board, must report before the President can seek an 80-day strike-halting injunction.

The reporting deadline of next Friday gives Taylor and his two fellow panel members an opportunity to try to mediate the stale-mated steel contract fight.

The other two panel members are John Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, and Paul N. Lebowitz, Ohio State University professor and another veteran arbitrator.

Stressed Obligation of Both

Eisenhower expressed profound regret that the industry and striking steelworkers had been unable to reach an agreement. He stressed that both have a continuing and grave obligation "to resume negotiations and reach a just and responsible settlement at the earliest possible time."

But the President said both sides had informed him they saw no hope for a settlement. Eisenhower said he had no alternative but to intervene with the nation's health and welfare thus imperiled.

The industry had no immediate comment. But David J. McDonald, Steelworkers Union president, said in Pittsburgh the use of Taft-Hartley procedures "would settle nothing on a permanent basis."

A sampling of striking Steelworkers in the Pittsburgh area brought a chorus of protests. Some hinted at a new walkout during the Christmas holidays after an 80-day injunction ran out.

It was the second time in a week that Eisenhower had set the T-H procedures into motion to end big strikes. Earlier he did it in the East-Gulf Coast docks strike. The longshoremen now are working under an injunction.

At Odds On Offer

The companies have offered what they describe as gains worth 15 cents an hour over two years. The union says the industry offer is actually less, but in any event they want 15 cents hourly gain for each year of a new contract. This is over twice what the companies have offered. Complicating the impasse is the company demand for more leeway in making work cost economies.

The Steelworkers were averaging $3.11 hourly before the strike began.

Ride High On Missile Prestige

Soviets Seize Initiative On East-West Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Riding high on the prestige of two moon missiles and Premier Nikita Khrushchev's red carpet treatment in the United States, the Soviet Union is playing the star role on the General Assembly stage this year.

The Soviets have seized the initiative on most East-West questions since Khrushchev told the Assembly Sept. 18 of his scheme for a world without war.

Both the disarmament and outer space issues hinge mainly on plans put forth by the Soviets. The initial proposals were couched in such general terms that the West had no choice but to agree with them in principle.

To oppose Khrushchev's call for global agreement to scrap all arms and armies would have sounded like an argument against peace.

It would have been equally difficult to block the Soviet call for an international conference of scientists to swap experiences in exploring outer space.

The one East-West question on which the Western powers have taken the initiative has threatened to backfire.

The call for an airing of the Red China-Tibet situation has alienated a number of Asia neutrals. They feel it would only touch off bitter East-West debate and heighten tensions eased by the talks between President Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

The bitter exchange which erupted between the Soviet Union and the United States Friday night, when the Tibet item was brought up in the Steering Committee, only served to heighten the neutrals' apprehension. The cold war clash between the two big powers was one of the bitterest the U.N. has heard in some time.

The Soviet's proposals are under the limelight but they may be in for some rough going before the

Macmillan Seeks Early Parley

Expected to Contact Ike, De Gaulle Soon

LONDON (AP)—With a summit conference high on the agenda, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan conferred today with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

The talks were the first with his foreign policy chief since Macmillan and his Conservative party won a sweeping victory in Britain's parliamentary elections Thursday.

The Prime Minister has set an early summit parley as one of his first post-election tasks. He is expected to communicate quickly with President Eisenhower and President Charles de Gaulle of France on arrangements for a top-level meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Macmillan conferred with Lloyd before setting out for his country home in Sussex for a quiet weekend.

The general expectation is that Lloyd will continue as foreign secretary at least through a summit conference, proposed for late fall or this winter.

Macmillan told the nation Friday night that the sweeping election victory by his Conservative party meant a clear-cut mandate "to play our full part in the constant search for peace."

Macmillan has told President Eisenhower privately he favors quick Western action to take advantage of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's current conciliatory attitude, informants said. Macmillan also fears too long a delay in setting up top-level talks could produce new international tensions.

The British consider November the best month to arrange a summit conference before the American presidential campaign begins to warm up. They are confident Eisenhower will go along with the idea if French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer agree.

But De Gaulle has leaned toward another prior session of foreign ministers. Adenauer reportedly prefers delaying the summit conference until after Eisenhower's election.

at the Southwest Baptist Church in St. Louis.

For the past two Sundays she has stood beside a television set, watching another set about six feet away and relaying the words to several score deaf people while they watch. She will be doing it again this Sunday.

The Southwest Baptist Church is holding the viewing parties as an experimental prelude to the TV dramatic series "The Answer," which will begin in January under the sponsorship of the Southern Baptist Convention's Radio and Television Commission.

Interpreting from the television screen is something new for Georgia, but using sign language to bring religion to deaf people is not.

For the past three years, she has been using her unusual knowledge to help the deaf at Southwest Baptist, beginning as an interpreter on the Sunday School level.

She became so proficient at sign language that she now stands beside the pastor each Sunday morning, turning his sermon into hand motions that can be read with the eyes of the people in front of her.

Another girl, Diana Krauss, handles the evening sermon.

Georgia began learning sign language chiefly so she could talk with a friend, Sally Hewlett, daughter of the Rev. J. Edwin Hewlett and now a 20-year-old senior at Blue Mountain College in Mississippi.

The deaf participate in all phases of the service at Southwest Baptist Church, including the singing, in sign language.

Georgia compares the silent music to a graceful ballet movement.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

3 Young People Visit Russia

They say there are very few places left in the world which are exciting to the wanderlust-conscious American. I, together with John, my brother, and Elizabeth, my sister, have just returned from one—Russia. After 16 days, 5 cities, 4 plane rides and 1 boat trip, I hardly feel like an expert on the Soviet Union. In fact, perhaps I'm less of one now than before I started out, yet, out of our many experiences a few impressions carved themselves on my mind.

I could dwell at length on the foibles of travel in the Soviet Union, the constant frustrations in dealing with "Intourist," the run-arounds often accompanying a request to see something off the beaten track (a copy of the New York Herald Tribune, for example, 2½ hours it usually took to get the frequent "It is impossible" from the guides accompanied by a sad look and a shrug of the shoulders).

Or I could tell about the openness and friendliness of the people, their curiosity about Americans which would cause groups of them to gather around us on the street corners and ask questions (mostly about what we did, how much money we made, and the race problem). Or about the joy of being able to eat caviar like peanut butter, or the excellent quality of the ballet, circus and theater.

AND ANOTHER POINT of interest might be the sightseeing—the Metro with its marble walls, mosaic ceilings and stained-glass windows; the huge hydro-electric plant at Stalingrad; Pioneer Camps for children; the preserved bodies of Lenin and Stalin (it was here I felt the closest thing to a religious atmosphere); monuments to the heroic battles of Stalingrad and Leningrad; the treasures of the Kremlin; the American Exhibition and our chat with Mrs. Nixon there; and the many, many museums.

We were curious about the status of religion in a country where, as one person put it, "We have many more exciting things to do than believe in God." There is in the Soviet government a department called the Ministry of Cults. The function of this organization is to protect the rights of believers; in other words, all those people who still believe in God and wish to worship Him in one form or another. Religion to them is a strange and fanatical practice which must be tolerated and protected, but certainly not encouraged. And like all cults, they expect it to fade away with the passing of the present generation.

In the Soviet Union there are two kinds of churches—functioning and nonfunctioning. (They are very proud of their museum churches—the Kremlin churches in Moscow, St. Sophia's in Kiev, Peter's and Isaac's in Leningrad. I asked our guide who Isaac was. "Oh, one of the heroes of the Bible," he answered.) To get to one of the "functioning" churches is quite a production, as we discovered one Sunday morning when we told our guide we wished to visit the Baptist church (the Baptists are the largest Christian denomination outside the Russian Orthodox). We had asked our guide several days previously to locate this church, but he arrived Sunday morning with no information and a most disinterested attitude. In this situation going to church meant winning a point, and 1½ hours later, after much persistence, a trip to Intourist, and three ruffled tempers, we arrived at a small private house on the edge of Kiev.

ALTHOUGH THE temperature was in the 90s, people were packed into every available chair, with an overflow standing on the porch and down the front steps. For two hours they hardly moved as the service progressed through prayers, sermons (2, I believe), much singing, communion and an offering. The people really poured their hearts into that service, and we were moved by their expressions of love toward us. There was a pathetic feature in all this, though—85 per cent of the congregation was over 60 years of age, and a large majority women. Not a very hopeful sign for the future.

Our search for a Bible did not meet with as much success, however, as our search for the church. "What do you want a Bible for?" our guide in Leningrad exclaimed when we asked him. "There's one in the library if you want to see one." After further pressing he said no store sold Bibles, but perhaps we could find a copy in one of the "functioning" churches. The church officials looked perplexed at our request also. "We do get a few in now and then," they said, "but only the old people read them and they already have them."

Perhaps the clearest example of the Soviet "belief," as well as the most frightening, was what happened to us by chance one afternoon in Leningrad. We had heard of a museum called "The History of Religions Museum" and asked to see it. We looked at the usual objects one might find in such a place—religious painting and sculpture, icons, religious objects taken from cathedrals—and were on our way out when I spied two shiny metal objects near the door. I asked what they were. "Sputniks," the young woman guide replied.

"WHAT DO THEY have to do with the history of religion?" I asked.

"This shows the future." Then waving her hand around the room she added, "All that is in the past."

A friend with us quickly spoke up and said, "What you really mean to say is that this is what you worship now." The guide just shrugged her shoulders, but I thought back to our guide in Moscow, an enthusiastic member of the Young Communist League. My brother had asked him one day, "Ivan, if you don't believe in God what do you believe in?"

"I believe in science," he said. "Science will eventually provide us with the answers to all unanswered questions. We do not need God."

But a redeeming impression, however, we did come away with is of the basic sameness of Russians and Americans as people and of our mutual desire for peace. Perhaps this will be the hope of the world and the answer to its dilemma.

Many Conditions Cause Sciatica

All too often I receive inquiries from people suffering from sciatica who want to know more about this distressing condition.

Some of them have experienced pain for months at a time and are almost at their wits end to know how they can bear it longer. Some of them have numbness and tingling as well as pain; all are eager for information on how it can be cured. I wish that I could tell them.

Sciatica is a term used to describe pain along the course of the sciatic nerve rather than a disease.

This nerve runs down the back of the leg from the buttocks to the heel. Apparently many different causes can irritate the sciatic nerve and bring this pain.

Some doctors claim that most cases of "sciatic neuritis" are caused by a hernia or rupture of the cartilage-like substances which lie between the vertebrae or small bones of the spinal column.

This substance is called the nucleus pulposus. At any rate there is no doubt that many cases of pain in the sciatic nerve have been relieved by the surgical treatment of this rupture.

Plain in the sciatic nerve also may come from conditions elsewhere in the body. Such diseases as diabetes, certain kinds of vitamin deficiencies and rheumatic condition produce sciatic pain. Infection in an abscessed tooth or diseased tonsils also cause sciatica. In such cases removal or drainage of the infected area brings relief although many appointments can be expected.

When the sciatic nerve is subjected to pressure from something in or near the spine itself, sciatic pain may result. Any disorder of the lower back, for example, can cause sciatica.

Many times a direct cause cannot be found. Sometimes the injection of a local anesthetic or salt solution relieves the pain.

Manipulation, together with other measures of physical therapy, such as heat or diathermy may be helpful. X-ray treatments and special exercises have been used successfully in a few of the more difficult cases.

Until more is learned about what brings about the more obscure types, it will be difficult to treat all cases of this distressing and painful condition with the desired success.

Perhaps in the future more can be prevented by methods yet to be side, almost all eventually recover or can be cured even though the path may be long.

In a Pinch, They Stick Together

The only trouble with the injunction clause of the Taft-Hartley Act is, as the cigar smoker said when he tasted his first cigarette, that it "isn't much of a smoke."

It sounded like a sure-fire way to break up deadlocks when it was put into the law 12 years ago. But experience has shown that members of unions stick together on the show-down vote that follows the injunction.

Including the Longshoremen's strike, there now have been 16 applications of the Taft-Hartley Act in national emergency disputes.

Nine times, the dispute was settled during the 80-day work return specified by the law. Six times, the strike was still in progress when the 88 days ended. Five times, the workers then resumed the strike; they took no advantage of the law's provision that would let them vote to go back to work. The other time, the outcome of the vote was cloudy because of a dispute over representation.

The reason union members are unlikely to vote against their leadership in a strike issue is plain. It was not plain in 1947.

The vote turns into a showdown on unionism, itself — not on the terms of a labor contract. Union members are unlikely to cast a vote of no confidence in their only means of representation in a bargaining negotiation.

It is likely this pattern of decision will be repeated in the Longshoremen's strike if it cannot be settled during the 80-day work period. It probably would be repeated in the United Steelworkers strike if workers were ordered back to the mills by a federal court and no settlement were reached.

One thing about the Taft-Hartley injunction never has been made clear enough to union members. It is not the idea to hurt or help the union when the proceeding is used. There must be demonstrable danger to the national health and safety.

That is why a dock tieup justifies quick action. That is why a steel strike can be permitted to drag on for months. Steel is not perishable.

But if it can be shown that steel shortages now are serious enough to be an actual threat to national health and safety, an injunction to put the steel industry back to work would be justified. The situation never has occurred before, but if the strike continued in 1960 it is entirely possible a second injunction and perhaps a third and a fourth might be issued.

The nation has rights that transcend the bargaining rights of labor unions.

There'll Be Some Changes

It would be in bad taste right now to suggest that baseball, like some of the quiz shows of recent memory, could benefit by a script.

But take this business of the Chicago White Sox. The Sox should not have lost the World Series to the Dodgers.

Their losing it in the way they lost it—somewhat too convincingly — opens the door to two assumptions:

1. That the financial strategists who moved the Dodgers from Brooklyn, which loved them, to Los Angeles, which loves them even more, knew what they were doing. This has the effect of making big-league baseball seem to be a cold business proposition, which is contrary to the legalistic mumbo-jumbo of its own lawyers and the U.S. Supreme Court; they say it's a sport.
2. That the American League does not know what is good for itself when it yearns to knock off the New York Yankees, its perennial champion, because only the Yankees can be a match for the winner of the National League pennant race.

There might even be a third assumption though it is in almost as bad taste as the suggestion that baseball needs a stage manager. It is the assumption that the White Sox after 40 years in the wilderness following their fall from grace in that World Series they threw to the gamblers will never emerge but must wander endlessly, prey to baseball's version of original sin.

Which is to say, in a mealy-mouthed way, they must pay forever because on one infamous occasion they actually did use a script, instead of making up the outcome of the series with happenstances.

'It Went Off Rather Well'

Three things about the outcome of the British election will make politicians on this side of the Atlantic gnaw their knuckles as they look ahead to 1960.

First, a stepped-up rate of political spending by the British Labor party did not produce worthwhile results, though it may have softened the blow of what still proved to be a thumping defeat.

Second, a government policy of moderation in all things was upheld in such enthusiastic approval that Britain's creeping social lists are now as much on the defensive as the galloping socialists whose excesses after World War II gave socialism a black eye for generations to come.

Third, the winning formula of the Conservatives under Prime Minister Macmillan is likely to be the formula of the political conservatives of the United States in 1960. As Mr. Macmillan put it, "The election went off rather well."

The Republican party's candidates next year will follow the same argument used by Conservative candidates in Britain — that voters would do well to continue policies that have been producing prosperity at home and some signs of progress in producing the circumstances of peaceful existence abroad.

A year from now, another U.S. national election will be in full cry.

Candidates will be promising anything for votes.

Pollsters will be ferreting out information purporting to show that if the election were to be held on such and such a date the outcome would be 46 per cent for Humpty-Dumpty, another 46 for Dumpty-Humpty and 8 per cent undecided.

It will be more fun than a barrel of also-rans from a beauty contest, and the outcome may very well be the same as the outcome of this year's election in Britain.

The trend in politics is toward moderation.

The instinct of voters with free choice is to balance the scales — to preserve what is working reasonably well and to seek improvement in the international temperature of the cold war. That was the winning formula in Britain.

The baseball bat is here to stay. It is now clear there is no future for a ball club whose foreign policy is based on a short hit over second base. Back to trivial matters like national survival, inflation, the high cost of living, more gas taxes and the budget.

THE GOVERNMENT has banned 17 lipstick colors as possible detriment to health. Now's the time for a man to prove whether he is a man or a mouse.

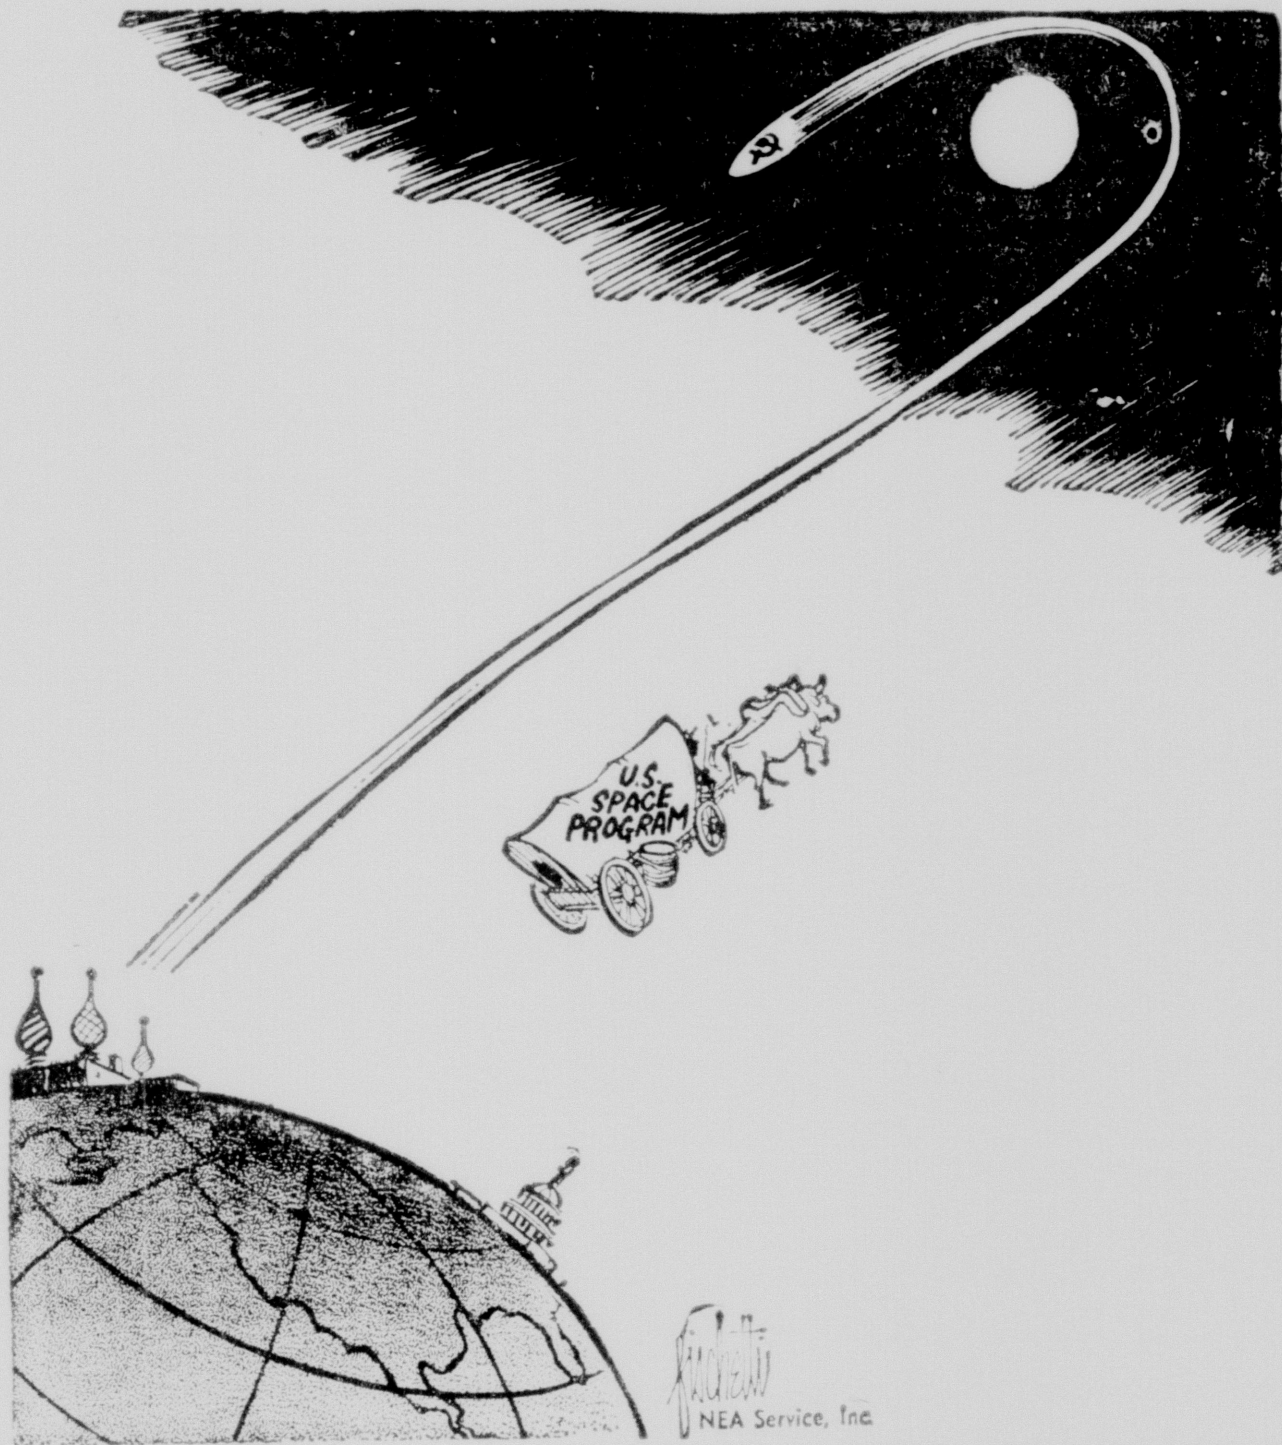

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is now on a college faculty, but has asked not to be called "professor." Before a class can pronounce a three-syllable word the lady is apt to be off to some other airfield.

The recent baseball series convinced us that the perfect TV set should dispense frankfurters and mustard. (And how about a slot into which you can drop a coin and get popcorn while watching TV old movies?)

An international meeting of private detectives was just held in New York. It seemed odd to observe one private eye asking, "How do I find the newsstand?" at the Waldorf. And we hear that when one sleuth greeted the waiter with, "What's on the menu?" the waiter replied, "I'll give you a clue. You should dope it out from there."

Ingemar Johansson, world heavyweight champ, was on Dinah Shore's show as a singer and seemed greatly relieved to know he was in a field where he would get his money promptly and know who was working for or against him without a special inquiry.

New Crisis In Middle East

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

The attempt to assassinate Iraq's Premier indicates a new and vastly confused crisis boiling up in the Middle East.

This time, world communism would be directly involved. The United States and its Western partners likely would seem to the majority of Arabs less the villains and more the innocent bystanders.

The prospect of new turmoil in the Arab East can hardly be pleasant for the United States and the West. All such crises are dangerous. The next one could be all the more so if it develops into a test of strength between Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and those who challenge his claim to Arab leadership.

No matter what the source of the attempt on Premier Abdel

Karim Kassem's life in Baghdad, the incident will bring on a period of rigid martial law in which the leader of the 15-month-old Iraqi revolution will try to keep his enemies at bay.

This comes at an opportune moment for the Communists. Nasser is involved in a violent war of words with Baghdad. He also is embroiled in a nasty quarrel with Communist China, which more and more has been attempting to throw its weight around in the Middle East.

This quarrel came about as the result of an attempt by the Arab Communists — and the Chinese Communists — to ally themselves with the fledgling Iraqi republic against Nasser. This drew indignant response from Cairo. It happened less than a week ago.

But first, here is some background: When Nasser's U.A.R. absorbed Syria, Cairo outlawed all organized political parties, leaving only Egypt's United National Front. The Communists had been strong in Syria, which had been their Middle East headquarters. The merger forced them underground and their leaders into flight. Among those who fled was Khaled Bakdash, the handsome non-Arab Kurd who heads the Arab Reds.

Baghdad offered a new opportunity. With the revolution, the Communists moved in strongly and were largely responsible for generating a fantastic Baghdad-Cairo feud. The Communists apparently had no intention of losing their foothold in Iraq as they had, through Nasser's influence, in Syria.

Last week, Bakdash showed up in Peiping. There he made a violent speech attacking Nasser and accusing him of plotting to take over Iraq.

Cairo, already deeply involved in propaganda warfare with Baghdad, lodged a strong protest in Peiping. Peiping virtually ignored it. The Cairo press and radio poured abuse on the Chinese Communists as new imperialists.

The assassination attempt in Baghdad likely will step up the war between Iraq and the U.A.R. In turn, this could have the effect of strengthening the Communist hand in Iraq itself.

It seems unlikely that the Communists will attempt to take over in Iraq. They don't seem strong enough, and the Red goal in the Middle East appears to be to create chaos which will reverberate throughout the area, affecting, for example, non-Arab Iran, Iraq's eastern neighbor.

Nasser remains strong in his Arab following. But the Communists are working on him. Possibly they hope that they can create conditions in which Nasser might lose his luster for his Arab following. The result of this surely would be incessant turmoil, a situation in which the Communists could hope to do their most effective work. Their aim would not be to conquer in the foreseeable future, but rather to render that whole vital area uninhabitable for Western influence.

Khrushchev's Game

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Some Observers Have Jumped to Conclusion

What is Khrushchev's game in Red China? Since no formal communique was issued after his visit to Peiping, there have been some observers in this country and abroad who have jumped to the conclusion that all is not well between the Red China regime and the Soviet government.

But there are evidences that the Soviet Premier is playing a skillful role of seeming to avoid responsibility for what has been happening in the Far East—if only to convince Americans that he really means to be a peacemaker.

Actually the Moscow government is believed not only to be behind the trouble stirred up by the Communists in Laos, Pakistan and India but has been calling the signals on Quemoy.

SECRETARY OF STATE Herter made a significant comment about all this at his Tuesday press conference, where the following colloquy occurred:

Q. Mr. Secretary, how do you reconcile what you said about the possibility of a split between Russia and Red China on foreign policy and the statement of the Chinese... that they acknowledge Khrushchev as head of the Communist world?

"A. Well, that was a very difficult one to explain. There is no question in our mind that that demand for recognition as the leader of the Communist world places upon the Russians a degree of responsibility for the actions of other members of the bloc that is very real....

"To a degree they (the Soviets) are responsible, as long as they are maintaining this position of being the leader in the bloc, and insisting, as they seem to have each time they go to China that the Chinese recognize that leadership.

"Q. Do you mean by that, sir, that in the view of American policy, the Soviet government has some responsibility for China's action toward Korea, or Formosa, or Laos, specific places of that kind?

"A. A degree of responsibility, as long as they maintain that they are the leaders of the bloc."

FROM ANOTHER well-informed individual, highly placed in the field of Far Eastern diplomacy comes an authoritative comment to this correspondent:

"The Red Chinese are dependent upon the Soviet Union for this 'leap forward' program because it is already in the doldrums and it would be infinitely worse if they lost Moscow's support.

"Actually, I think, there is a lot of wishful thinking about Red China's relations with the Soviets. I think they are working in absolute collusion. I think Mr. Khrushchev is cleverly pursuing a tactic. I don't think either one of them has changed in any way their ultimate objectives."

"Maybe," it was suggested, "Mr. Khrushchev is trying to get prestige in the West as the man who is keeping Red China from jumping on us." Here is the reply: "As a matter of fact, Khrushchev is the one who can keep them from doing it because they are dependent upon Russia for their basic materials and spare parts and planes and guns and ammunition."

"You know our people examined hundreds of shells that were fired at Quemoy and Matsu and not a single solitary one of them was made in China."

"Red China could not get into a major war without the consent of Russia because, after the Chinese used up their first reserves, Russia would have to supply them through that long line of communication down through Siberia."

"The very fact that Red China is dependent upon the Soviets is a great factor for peace in the Pacific."

"What about Khrushchev's responsibility for the aggression in northern India and in Laos?" was then asked. The answer given was:

"It's no major war that is involved for them in India — and not only that, Moscow is just as much interested as Red China in Communism taking over Asia."

COINCIDENT with these comments is the significant speech made this week by Gen. C. F. Cabell, the deputy director of Central Intelligence, who says with respect to the Communist aggression in Laos:

"We know that the Communists have clandestinely supplied weapons and trained agitators and are master-minding the operation."

Gen. Cabell also outlines in detail the Communist infiltration and preparations for aggressions in various countries in Africa. He adds:

"To the free peoples of the West, the bold evidence of Communist aggression is not very palatable. Calling this 'peaceful coexistence' does not make much sense to me."

So far as Red China is concerned, there is indeed much confusion here about the actual relationship between Peiping and Moscow.

Many observers are assuming that these are two independent entities and that their policies are by no means coordinated.

Basically Red China, however, is entirely dependent on the Soviet Union. It cannot get help from any other part of the world and must depend for its entire economic future on the aid that it gets from the Soviet regime.

It is not likely, therefore, that Peiping will fail on any important matter to take advice from Moscow.

This provides a test of the sincerity of Mr. Khrushchev in his new role as a peacemaker.

Smaller Loan Companies

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Only marginal risks need fear being turned down by the small loan companies because of scarce money. That's the opinion of a cross section of consumer finance companies.

They say funds will be available, although at higher rates, despite any efforts to keep credit tight.

The total of outstanding consumer credit will grow despite that, almost all of those in the field believe. It's already at a record high.

The Securities & Exchange Commission says consumer debt of individuals rose 2.2 billion dollars in the April - May - June quarter. And latest Federal Reserve Board figures put total installment debt at 3½ billion dollars.

A poll of executives of small loan companies on the eve of the annual meeting of the National Consumer Finance Assn. in Seattle Tuesday shows all agreeing that the big companies expect to find the necessary funds to finance increased credits, expect a high rate of repayment and a rapid turnover of money. But here are some of the changes the coming year may see:

L. M. Curtiss, president of America Investment Co., St. Louis, says, "It will be easier for larger companies to obtain additional credit than for smaller ones."

Agreeing with him is H. E. MacDonald, president of Household Finance Corp. of Chicago, who says increasing demand for bank loans will mean that "some individual companies without satisfactory bank lines may find it necessary to curtail their operations."

But Stephen B. Straske, president of Sun Finance & Loan Co., Tampa, Fla., says, "Bankers are now turning down capital investment loans but not curtailing loans for consumer credit because of its importance to our economy."

And L. M. Boyd, president of Thrift Industrial Bank, Denver, thinks the consumer's record for repayment will aid the consumer finance business find the money it will need.

To this Leland M. Feigel, president of Interstate Finance Corp., Evansville, Ind., adds: "The trend toward credit is so unmistakable that a downturn in its legitimate users will not be possible." He also notes "a general trend today of larger loans."

How are borrowers reacting to the trend toward tighter credit and higher interest rates?

M. L. Goeglein, vice president of Pacific Finance Corp., Los Angeles, says: "Where incomes rise fairly steadily, and people are optimistic about continuance of the rise, consumers are likely to consider future installment payments, including charges, as less of a burden than full cash outlay at the time of purchase."

Richard K. Steinman of Little Loans Corp., Phoenix, Ariz., says "Tight money shouldn't affect the good consumer borrower, only the marginal ones."

But Lyle S. Woodcock, vice president of Liberty Loan Corp., St. Louis, sees tougher days ahead. He says: "Eventually higher costs will have to be passed on to the customer. Legislation increasing rates and ceilings will be required in some states to induce capital to meet the ever-increasing demand for installment loans."

And he holds: "Past progress of this nation has proven that we can have prosperity and at the same time have low interest rates. We have doubts as to the wisdom of present monetary policies."

Columbiana Company Acquires Coast Firm

COLUMBIANA — Acquisition of the resaw and bandmill lines of Counsel Manufacturing Inc., West Coast sawmill equipment manufacturers, was announced today by William K. Stamets, Jr., president of Northeast Ohio Machine Builders, Inc., in Columbiana.

In announcing the purchase, Mr. Stamets revealed it to be the latest step in the firm's plan to completely integrate all manufacturing facilities and products in Columbiana to better serve the industry.

He pointed out that the acquisition does not include any of CMI's physical plant or real property but does include all manufacturing and sales rights, patents, patterns, parts and design drawings for the sawmill line, which will soon be moved to Northeast's Columbiana headquarters.

In addition to headsaws and resaws Northeast presently manufactures all types of feeds, automatic screwlock carriages, other sawmill components and offers complete plant layout service.

Peter Townsend To Wed Belgian Girl

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Handsome Peter Townsend is engaged to a pretty Belgian girl bearing a marked resemblance to Britain's Princess Margaret.

The 44-year-old former RAF group captain's engagement to Marie-Luce Jamagne, 21, daughter of a wealthy tobacco industrialist, was announced Friday night by her mother. She said no wedding date has been set.

Townsend was not available for comment.

Marie-Luce, a petite, dark-eyed brunette known to her friends as Moustique (mosquito), has been assisting the World War II fighter ace in his new job of making documentary films.

Townsend's romance with Princess Margaret ended in 1955 when she made her dramatic statement: "I would like it to be known that I have decided not to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend."

They obviously were in love. But Townsend was a divorced man. Margaret is deeply religious and the Church of England objects to divorced persons remarrying. Townsend divorced his wife in 1952. She has remarried since.

Wooster's New Agriculture Building

Experiment Station to Dedicate New Building

WOOSTER — For the first time in its 77-year history, the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station has special facilities on its campus for research in agricultural engineering. The newly completed, $500,000 structure will be dedicated Monday morning.

The modern offices, laboratories and shops provide excellent facilities to study such problems as farm structures, irrigation, drainage, farm machinery for planting, spraying and harvesting crops, and farm power.

A concerted effort by Ohio and United States Department of Agriculture research personnel will be made to solve knotty engineering problems of the farmer. This effort will be made easier since the USDA men, formerly located at Toledo, and the Experiment Station workers, until now at Columbus, will be housed in the same building. This will make possible the sharing of tools, equipment and techniques.

Heading up the Agricultural Engineering program is Professor R. D. Baruen. Experiment Station personnel under his direction are: W. H. Johnson, associate chairman; Warren L. Roller; J. E. Henry; Glenn Schwab; Kenneth Harkness; and B. J. Lamb. Johnson, Roller and Henry will headquarter in Wooster. USDA personnel to be located here include Frank Irons, Orve Heddon and Ross Brazee. Several technicians round out the staff.

Location of the engineers next to Williams Hall, the agronomy and forestry building, will permit closer working of engineering researchers with field crops men.

A crop processing laboratory will be used for experimenting with drying, grinding, milling, storing and processing of grains. Such studies as effects of high moisture harvesting of corn will be conducted here.

Studies will continue on the application are being tested, and control. Both ground and plane application are being tested, and different spray patterns are compared.

Big, space-consuming machinery such as sprayers, combines and tractors, will be housed and tested in a large, unobstructed area 64 feet wide by 182 feet long. It is versatile enough to allow a wide range of research to proceed at the same time.

Other features of the building include an environmental chamber where grain can be held until tested, a small equipment and components laboratory, an electrical control and instrument shop, a soils and water laboratory, and a chemical laboratory.

The dedication ceremony will begin at 9:30 a.m. EST.

Forcing Brings Blooms by Christmas

BY ALLAN SWENSON
Written for NEA Service)
You can enjoy springtime beauty at Christmas by forcing spring-flowering bulbs into early bloom indoors. A few simple steps will bring you perfect blooms within eight to 12 weeks after planting the bulbs this fall.

Practically every type of hardy bulb can be coaxed into flowering earlier than usual. Bulbs already have the stored food they need to burst forth with full-grown flowers. All they require is your encouragement.

TULIPS, DAFFODILS, crocuses, hyacinths and lily-of-the-valley are all excellent for forcing.

To obtain the best bulbs, buy early. Select only large, well-formed bulbs free from defects. Request varieties of tulips, daffodils and hyacinths that are recommended for forcing. Some varieties of these flowers don't respond well to forcing.

Bulbs don't need rich soil to produce their blooms. Their food is already present in the bulb. A light, porous soil that insures good drainage is best. Sand can be mixed with heavy soil to loosen it.

Crocuses, hyacinths and paper-white narcissus can even be grown in bowls filled with pebbles, vermiculite or water, alone. However, good soil is generally best for a longer period of bloom.

FOR GOOD DRAINAGE prevent bulbs from rotting with excessive moisture, use clay pots. Clay bulb pans, five inches or larger in diameter, are ideal for larger displays.

First, place broken clay pot pieces or gravel in the bottom of the pot for good drainage. Add a handful of sand, then some soil. Place the bulbs on the sand and fill the pot with the planting soil. Spacing can be closer than outdoors. For tulips, six to 10 bulbs fit a seven-inch pot. Daffodils are bigger, so use three to five bulbs in the same-size pot. Ten crocus bulbs will do well in a five-inch pot.

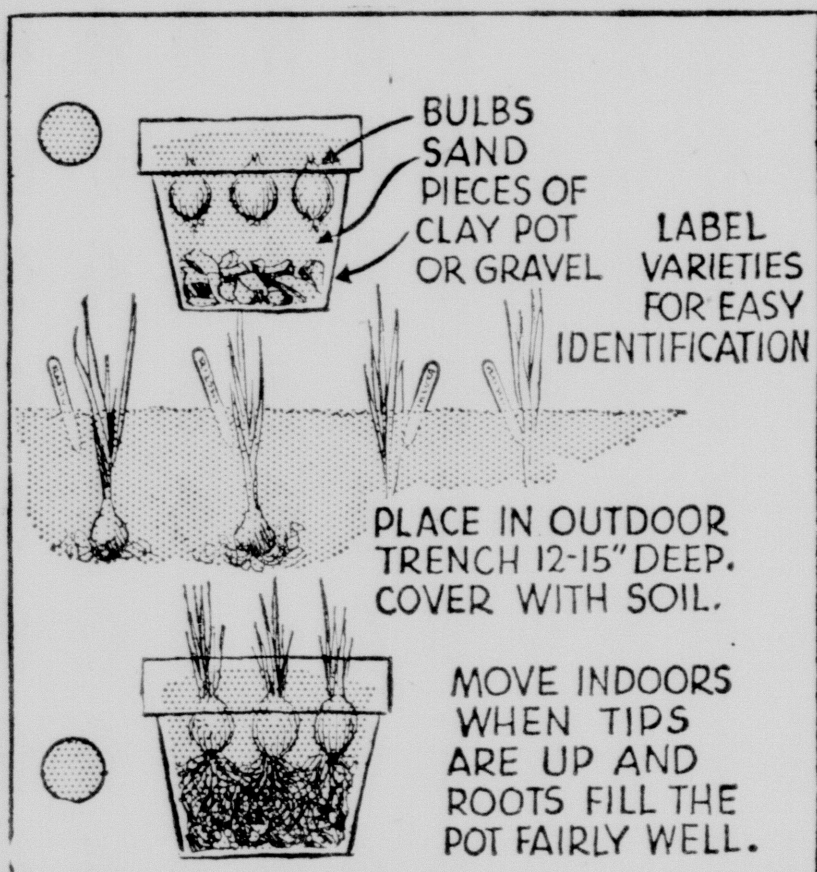

Next step is rooting. Place the pots of bulbs in a cool cellar or garage where the temperature is about 45 degrees. Water them frequently, daily if you can. They should be kept moist, but not wet.

ANOTHER WAY to stimulate good rooting is to place the pots outdoors in milder climates, buried in a trench 12 to 15 inches deep. Choose a well-drained area, cover the pots lightly and mulch with leaves or straw to prevent damage from freezing.

After four to six weeks, check the rooting progress in a pot or two. Rooting usually takes about a month or more, depending on the bulbs and planting care. When the bulbs and planting care. When the roots have filled the bottom of the pot and the leaf tips are pushing about an inch or two above the potted soil, bring the bulbs indoors.

It's best to keep the pots in a dark corner at about 69 degrees Fahrenheit to introduce the plants gradually to warm indoor conditions. Water them daily. After a week indoors, you can place the plants in a sunny window for their final burst of growth.

Planting extended through December will fill your house with sprightly flowers for many weeks. Try forcing bulbs this year. It's easy and it's fun.

CALLS PROPOSAL FANTASTIC

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Timken Roller Bearing Co. has described as "utterly fantastic, unreasonable and insincere" proposals made by the United Steelworkers Thursday to prevent what the union said could be a reduction in earnings because of automation. Negotiations on the USW contract with Timken continue Monday afternoon. The three-year contract has been extended until Oct. 24. When the extension was made, it was in the hope a basic steel industry wage pattern would have been set by Oct. 24.

Salem Handed First Loss Of Season 14-0 By Ambridge

Quakers Commit 4 Costly Fumbles

BY DICK BRAUTIGAM

A sensational running fullback and four lost fumbles in enemy territory sent the Salem Quakers down to their first defeat of the season Friday night at Ambridge, Pa., by a score of 14-0.

Len Chaiverini, a 170-pound terror in football pants, outgained the entire Salem team on the ground. The durable senior lugged the pigskin 29 times for 174 yards—an average of six yards per almost unbeatable, was completely snarled by an Ambridge line that wouldn't stand still. They had men jumping in and out of the line on almost every play, fouling up Salem's blocking assignments.

Effectiveness of the Quakers' vaunted double team blocking was minimized by the switching defenses thrown up by Coach Mike Sebastian's eleven.

ON OFFENSE Chaiverini had a field day running the ends. He was considerably more successful around Salem's left end where Tony Petrucci was consistently being pulled out of position by the opposition.

Salem's right end, Don Davidson, managed to turn in all but one run around his end. Davidson was a shining light both on offense and defense in an otherwise dark night for the Quakers.

Quarterback Horning was another Salem player who turned in a creditable performance. He completed six of 11 passes for 94 yards despite the fact he was pushed off his feet by the Bridger defenders.

Most of the tosses were screen passes which Horning got rid of just a fraction of a second before he was placed flat on his back.

Ambridge's fast charging line also caused some headaches for Salem's punter Fred Phillips. Phillips, who had kicked only twice in three previous games, was called upon three times last night and averaged only 17 yards per punt.

HIS FIRST TRY in the opening quarter went almost straight up in the air and was downed by Salem just seven yards from the line of scrimmage.

Guard Fred Fedorko partially blocked Phillips' second try after the pass from center almost went over the kicker's head. The ball traveled just 12 yards from scrimmage. His last try was more near his season average, 32 yards.

The first quarter of action last night was a stalemate. Salem won the toss for the fourth straight time and elected to receive. They opened with a roar, going 40 yards in six plays to the Ambridge 40 where Schmauch lost the ball on a fumble. He had picked up 35 of the 40 yards in the drive.

The first score came with just two minutes remaining in the first half. After taking a punt on their own 34 yard line, the Bridgers moved 66 yards in 13 plays.

Except for a five-yard gain by halfback Gary Richey and an incomplete pass, Chaiverini lugged the ball on every carry before quarterback Dennis Melnich sneaked over from the three.

Kisiday kicked the extra point and Salem trailed 7-0.

THE QUAKERS FOUGHT back but once again Schmauch fumbled, this time on the Ambridge 45. The Bridgers recovered just as the half ended.

Salem had more success moving the ball in the third quarter. They advanced all the way from their own 20 to the Ambridge seven-yard line where halfback Frank Copacia fumbled and Gary Richey fell in the pigskin for Ambridge.

The drive was featured by a 35-yard screen pass from Horning to end Charlie Horn who carried to the Ambridge 25. Horn had four blockers in front of him when he caught the ball but one of them brushed against his leg and threw him off balance enough to allow safety man Manns to make the tackle.

Manns was the only man who had a chance to stop the touchdown and he succeeded.

After Richey recovered Copacia's fumble, Ambridge put on a sustained drive for the final touchdown of the night. With Chaiverini eating up 63 yards, including 37 on his longest run of the night, Ambridge ground out 93 yards for the touchdown.

The TD came on a third down pass play which covered two yards from Melnich to end Jim Hallas. Salem moved the ensuing kickoff down to the Ambridge two-yard line where halfback Ronnie Janovec fumbled a pitchout from Horning and Ambridge recovered the ball on their five to stop Salem's final scoring threat.

THE QUAKERS were outplayed but certainly not humiliated in Ambridge. Their passing success made the statistics reasonably close. In net yardage the Quakers trailed by just 20 yards, 247-227. Ambridge chalked up 13 first downs to Salem's 10.

Ambridge completed only two passes, and one of those went for a yard loss. Their net yardage through the air was one yard.

With Chaiverini the Bridgers didn't need a passing attack. The flashy fullback who just transferred to Ambridge this year, did everything against the Quakers but score.

Both the Salem and Ambridge bands performed at halftime.

Officiating were William Lohr, Dave Sylvester, Eugene Whitfield and W. N. Pauley. An estimated crowd of 6,000 persons watched the game.

carry. Salem ball carriers netted only 133 yards on the ground, by far their poorest showing in four games.

The loss broke an eight-game winning streak for Salem. When Ambridge scored their first touchdown in the second quarter, it marked the first time the Quakers' goal had been crossed this season.

The frustrating superiority of Pennsylvania schools over the Quakers was continued as Ambridge's victory marked the sev-

There was no stopping the brilliant Chaiverini last night, but the Quakers actually fumbled the game away. Twice in the second half they lost the ball inside the Ambridge 10-yard line.

FULLBACK PETE SCHMAUCH committed two costly bobbles in the first half which turned the ball over to Ambridge on their own 40 and 45 yard lines. The Quakers fumbled a fifth time in the game, but Quarterback Vince Horning recovered his own bobble. Salem's trouble hanging on to the ball was nothing new. The Quakers had committed seven fumbles in three previous games, losing the ball on five of those occasions.

However, unlike Salem's three previous opponents, Ambridge had the manpower to make the Quakers pay for their mistakes.

Albert Scores Two TDs

Canfield Roars Over Hapless Columbiana

Rampaging left halfback Jim Albert scored two touchdowns and two extra points as the Canfield Cardinals swept to their fourth straight victory Friday night 22-0 over their Columbiana Clipper hosts.

The 165-pound senior's two TD's gave him a four-game total of 13.

The sensational halfback scored on a 27-yard run in the first period on a trap play over right guard. He also toted the pigskin for the extra two points.

Albert scored his second touchdown in the fourth frame on a 25-yard run. Right halfback Harry McPhee ran for the two extra points.

McPhee tallied Canfield's second touchdown in the third period when he galloped 17 yards on a reverse play. His try for the extra points was no good.

Canfield, the defending Inter-County League champion, has a 3-0 record in league competition this season.

Columbiana, which was unable to move the ball all night, has won one game out of four this year. Its Tri-County League record is 0-2.

The Clippers will invade Leetonia next Friday for a Tri-County League contest.

A crafty Californian, Kid Sixto Rodriguez, fought the 13-5 favorite to a draw in the nationally televised 10-rounder at the Arena.

An estimated 1,500 fans—no official crowd or gate was announced—booed the verdict. There was no doubt from the tone that most thought the 26-year-old Rodriguez had scored an upset victory.

Rodriguez, beaten only once in 26 previous fights, fought an obviously well-planned battle. He kept inside the youngster most of the fight, piling up points with combination punches to the body.

When he wasn't leaning on Clay the Californian moved outside quickly, out of range of the Philadelphia's devastating right.

Officially, Judge James Mina scored the fight for Clay 46-45.

Judge Jack Stille called it a draw, 45 points each. Referee Dave Beloff carded it 46-44 for Rodriguez. The Associated Press agreed with Beloff and the booing crowd on a 46-43 score for Rodriguez.

Connor Tallies 11th TD In Three Games

Right halfback Gene Connor tallied his 11th touchdown in three games to give Louisville a 12-8 victory over the invading North Canton Vikings Friday night on the Leopards' field.

The score was 8-6 in favor of the Vikings when Connor went over from the three-yard line toward the end of the third quarter.

Louisville had marched all the way down to the Vikings' one-yard line and lost the ball on downs.

North Canton quick-kicked and the ball went out on the Vikings' 35-yard line. Connor went over the goal line about five plays later toward the end of the period.

The Leopards struck paydirt first about four minutes after the start of the game. North Canton kicked off to Louisville who quick-kicked on third down to the Vikings' one yard line.

The Vikings, unable to move the ball, also attempted a quick kick on third down, but the kick was blocked by tackle Larry Isgro. The ball rolled into the end zone and Isgro fell on it for the touchdown.

North Canton took over the lead immediately after the start of the second half. Louisville kicked off and quarterback Paul Paperone took the ball and scampered 75 yards for the score.

Left halfback Gene French went around left end to make the score 8-6 in favor of the invaders.

Connor's winning touchdown, which followed shortly afterward, increased his point total for the season to 66. Both Louisville's a tempts for the extra points failed.

The winners scored six first downs during the fray, and North Canton amassed 10.

Louisville's record for the season now stands at 3-1. North Canton, undefeated prior to last night's contest, sports an identical record.

Louisville's next contest will be Friday when it is host to Poland in a Tri-County League fray.

North Canton will meet invading Orville Friday.

Climaxing a McDonald drive late in the second period, Bob Barrett tallied for the host McDonald team on a two-yard plunge with 42 seconds remaining in the half.

During the second half of the league contest, both teams scored. Santagata pulled down a 31-yard pass from Quarterback James Metts and tallied his third TD. Metts carried for the extra points.

Trailing 26-0, the Gophers began to move. They scored on a 21-yard pass play from Quarterback Chuck Wilson to Gary Birkheimer to break the shutout.

McDonald retaliated with another TD in the final period with a 60-yard run by Larry Carkido before the Gophers crossed the goal line again on a one-yard plunge by Frank McDaniel from the two-yard line.

Welu Writes On Bowling
One 300-game in bowling—the perfect game—is an achievement. Billy Welu of Houston, Tex., has rolled 13 perfect games during his career.

Welu, one of the nation's outstanding bowlers, has many fans to pass on to other fans of the game. And he will do so beginning Monday in the Salem News.

The husky Texan has written a series of four articles in which he discusses choosing equipment, how to aim for a strike, the secret of a smooth delivery, and controlling the hook.

Among Welu's recent bowling achievements were the 1958-59 BPAA All-Star Individual Match Game championship and the 1958 Matt Niesen TV Invitational Singles championship. His lifetime average in BPAA team competition is a sparkling 213.

Welu watches Brown on every play. "As far as I'm concerned," he said the Browns are Jim Brown.

"He hits harder than anyone," Huff said of Brown. "You must meet him straight on with a you have. It's no good to get him from the side unless it's down low. And you have to stop him in the hole early and quick."

"If you don't he's gone. You got to get a good piece of him, too. It's that secondary effort that gets him most of his yardage. He's a tough man—the toughest."

Brown hasn't uncorked any long runs in the first two games this season, but his total yardage of 228 maintains a pace within hailing distance of his 1958 record performance. His per-carry yardage, however, has been only 4.06 compared with 5.94 last year.

Huff is a year and a half older than Brown and was 25 last Sunday. Each weighs about 230, but Brown at 6-foot-2 is an inch taller.

Lions' Second Win Since '57

Leetonia Trampled By Minerva 28-6

After a scoreless first quarter, Minerva High School's Lions struck in the remaining periods to down the host Leetonia team 28-6 at Leetonia.

Playing before a Leetonia Homecoming crowd, the Lions tallied first on a 50-yard punt return as Walt Loudon caught a Leetonia fourth down kick. Fullback Ray Hilyer ran for the points after 8-0 at the half.

A Leetonia pass which was intercepted by end Loudon at the Bear's 30-yard strip set up the Lions' only touchdown in the third period. Quarterback Jim Davison flipped a 15-yard pass to end Chuck Wilson for the six points. Davison's pass to Wilson netted two more points.

Minerva picked up two more TD's in the fourth period before the Bears mounted a counter-attack.

The first came when Hilyer dashed 19 yards to the goal line to climax a 58-yard drive by the Lions who won their second game since they defeated Leetonia in 1957.

Second six-pointer in the final quarter came on a one-yard plunge by Davison after he had connected on a 34-yard pass to Loudon.

Leetonia's only score came with less than two minutes remaining in the game as Halfback Dave Macry swept around his end for five yards to end a 70-yard march by the Bears. Their pass for the extra point fell incomplete.

Despite the score, both teams appeared up for the gridiron battle.

Minerva, winning its second game for the Lions' new coach, Glen Sutherland, displayed a strong defense and alert linemen who grabbed four Leetonia fumbles.

The Lions fumbled once and lost the ball to the Bears. Both teams were running and tackling hard, as indicated by the number of fumbles on a clear cool evening.

On first downs, Leetonia edged out Minerva nine to six. The Bears also led in completed passes as their passers hit on six of 11 with one interception while the Lions made four of seven.

The penalties were also to Minerva's disadvantage. The Lion's were tooted back a distance of 45 yards as compared to seven and a half for Leetonia (half the distance to the goal line).

Wilkinson Denies He'll Quit As Sooners' Coach

Jim Wisser deep in the Blue Devil Devils received several good end zone. Woods' try for the extra points was no good.

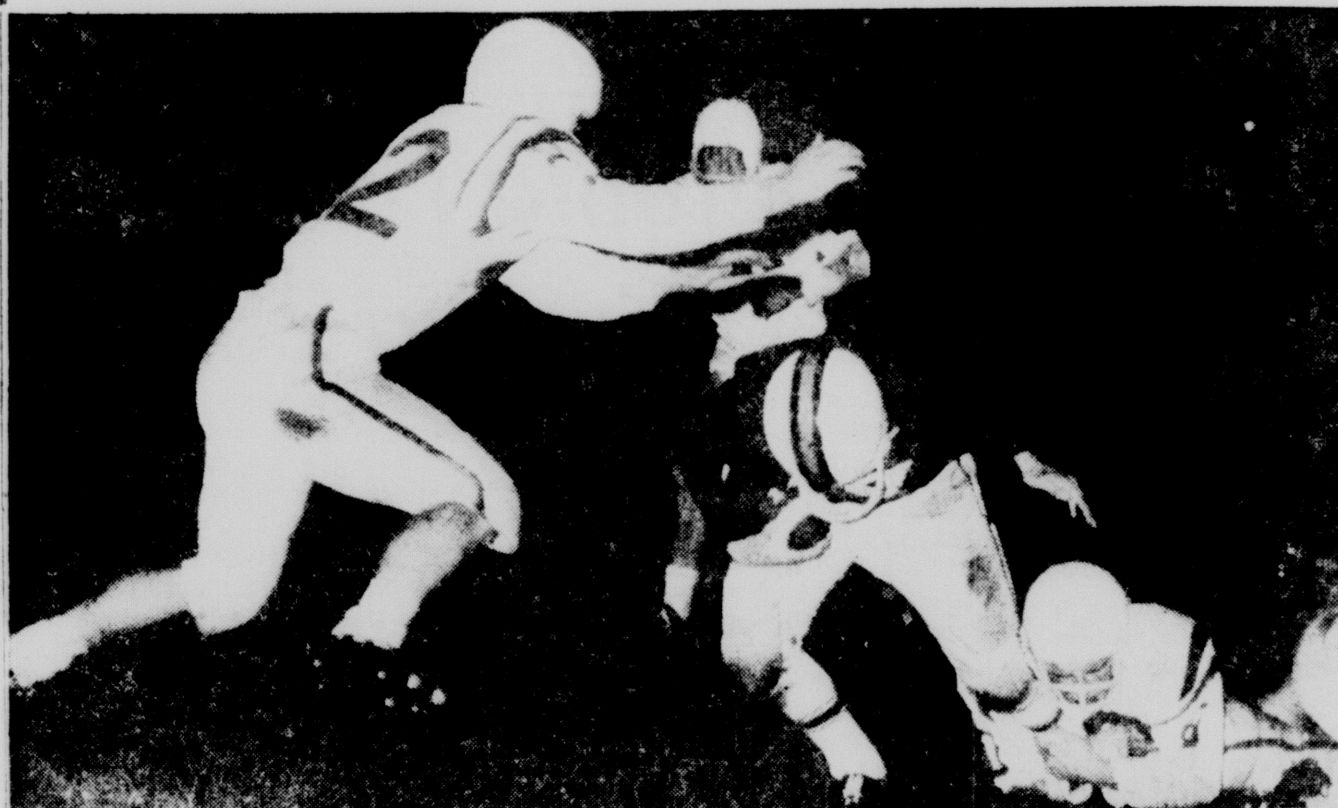

The Blue Devils then held East Palestine scoreless until late in the third quarter. During the remainder of the first half the Blue breaks but were unable to capitalize on them.

One of Lisbon's best opportunities came when the Blue Devils recovered a fumble on the Bulldog 5-yard line midway in the first quarter. The Blue Devils however, following their only penalty of the evening, were unable to push the ball through the powerful Palestine defense for the score.

Later in the same period, Lisbon halfback Tom Brooks intercepted a Bulldog pass, but Lisbon again failed to score.

LATE IN THE THIRD frame Woods went around his own left end for 13 yards and East Palestine's second marker of the tilt. The try for extra points again failed.

East Palestine pushed the ball across once again in the fourth canto when Bulldog fullback John Taucher plunged over from the one-yard line. Taucher, himself, set up the score with a 47-yard run after Woods pitched out to him.

This time East Palestine was able to pick up the elusive extra points as Woods went around his right end on the option.

Statistics show that Lisbon came out best only in the amount of yardage penalized. Lisbon received only one penalty, a five-yard off-side setback in the first quarter.

East Palestine was penalized a total of 60 yards including three 15-yard setbacks for unnecessary roughness, clipping and a personal foul.

THE PERSONAL FOUL penalty came in the third quarter when the officials caught Bulldog tackle Chuck Robinson in the act of piling on.

Halfback George Morris rolled for 84 yards and halfback Jim Wisser for 83 yards during the contest.

In the passing department, Lisbon tried five aeriels and completed none, while the Bulldogs tried six, completed three and had two intercepted.

Temper were at a fever pitch throughout the contest, which may well have decided the Tri-County title. During the contest, two Blue Devil players were shaken up.

Paul McLaughlin had the wind knocked out of him on the opening kickoff and had to leave the game for several plays. In the third period, halfback Dennis Johnson was hurt when he received a knee in the face while

Oregon Blasts San Jose State

West Scores 3 TD's In 35-12 Victory

By The Associated Press
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Unde-feated Oregon, independent but eligible for the Rose Bowl, is smelling that flower again.

The Ducks kept themselves in the Pasadena picture Friday night with an easy 35-12 victory over San Jose State, a team that just couldn't handle Oregon runners Willie West, Dave Grayson and Cleveland Jones.

West scored three touchdowns and Coach Len Casanova said West "had one of the best nights he ever had."

The Ducks stand out as Rose Bowl contenders because powerful Southern California is ineligible. The Trojans' NCA penalty ban doesn't end until seven days after the Jan. 1 game. California also is ineligible because it went to Pasadena last Jan. 1.

Oregon, Washington State and Oregon State get a crack at Pasadena for 1960 although they are not in the Far West five, successor to the Pacific Coast Conference. The new league picks the West Coast entrant.

In other top games Friday night, Southern Methodist drubbed Missouri 23-2. Utah took Brigham Young 20-8. Tulane blanked Detroit 25-0. Boston Univ. upset West Virginia 7-0 and Wichita beat George Washington 21-0.

Don Meredith and Toney Wilemon starred in SMU's victory. Meredith passed for two touchdowns and pitched out to Glynn Gregory for a 57-yard run that set up another.

Quarterback Ken Viera was the key in Utah's Skyline Conference triumph over BYU. A slender 164-pounder, he passed for two touchdowns and tallied one himself on a 12-yard sprint.

Sophomore Terry Terrence broke loose for a brilliant 49-yard broken field touchdown run in the second quarter that broke a scoreless deadlock with Detroit. That inspired the Green Wave and Tulane rolled to an easy shutout.

West Virginia was upset when BU's Gene Prebola caught a TD pass with only 44 seconds left. The play covered 19 yards.

Dick Young, quarterback, sparked Wichita to its victory over GW. He passed for two second-period touchdowns and one himself on a 19-yard end run in the same period.

In a Friday afternoon game The Citadel walloped Wofford 40-8.

Manhattan Handicap Scheduled Today

Round Table never has won a race on a New York track, but today he is going to try to do it the hard way.

The champion money winner—he's collected $1,690,519 in his 64-race career—will carry top weight of 132 pounds, and will be asked to travel farther than he ever has gone before when he goes to the post in the $50,000-added Manhattan Handicap at Aqueduct.

The Manhattan is the big-money race of the day, but other tracks have some highly respectable purses hung up for their feature events.

en ds vie in the 1 1-16 mile Juv Handicap at Hawthorne, with Na-Fifteen 2-year-olds vie in the $35,000-added 1 1-16 mile Juvenile Handicap at Hawthorne, with Natego the favorite. The Golden Gate Derby at Golden Gate Fields carries a purse of $25,000 added.

Round Table meets 11 rivals in the 1½-mile Manhattan, and his chief challenger, Bald Eagle, will carry only 122 pounds, or 10 less than Travis Kerr's star.

The race will be televised over CBS from 3:30 to 4 p.m. (EST).

Boxing Case Suspect Pleads Not Guilty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—With Joe Louis looking on, Truman Gibson Jr. has pleaded innocent to a conspiracy indictment returned in the county grand jury's investigation of prizefight operations here.

Gibson, a Chicago attorney and president of National Boxing Enterprises, is accused with four other men of trying to cut into the take of welterweight champion Don Jordan and operations of promoter Jackie Leonard.

The others accused are Frankie Carbo, Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Joe Sica and Louis Dragna.

U.S. District Judge Ernest Tolin Friday gave Gibson until Oct. 19 to file a motion for dismissal of the indictment.

Former heavyweight champion Louis appeared in the courtroom just before the proceedings began.

Sao Paulo, Brazil—Order Jofre, 122, Brazil, knocked out Angel Busto, 121, Argentine, 4.

LSU To Face Miami

Powerful Texas Will Meet Oklahoma In Week's Feature

By The Associated Press
How far downhill has Oklahoma stumbled? Was the Sooners defeat by Northwestern two weeks ago a fluke or did it signalize the crumbling of an 11-year-old Big Eight dynasty?

Powerful Texas—unbeaten and unscored on—will supply the answer today when the Longhorns and the Sooners clash in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

It was here just a year ago that Texas defeated Oklahoma in another stunning upset.

The Longhorns have swept past their rivals of the past three weeks with ease. After their 45-13 shocker at the hands of Northwestern, Oklahoma bounced back last week by lacing Colorado, 42-12.

Texas ranks No. 4 in the current Associated Press poll, while Oklahoma, which usually rides along at or near the top hasn't climbed back into the top 10 yet.

Up at the top of the leap, Louisiana State and Northwestern, should keep their unblemished records intact.

LSU, sporting a 15-game winning streak, takes on surprising Miami in a night game in Baton Rouge. The big problem for Billy Cannon and Co., will be to stop the Hurricanes' 152-pound quarterback, Frank Curci. Miami shows a 2-0 mark.

Northwestern's Cinderella kids, minus the services of ace quarterback Dick Thornton, tangled with Minnesota.

None of the top 10 got into action Friday night, but there was scattered action around the country. In the top game, Southern Methodist, a disappointment to date, clubbed Missouri 23-2, with Don Meredith passing for two touchdowns.

Boston University nipped West Virginia, 7-0, on Emu Dinitto's touchdown pass to Gene Prebola with 44 seconds left in the game. In other action, Wichita trounced George Washington 21-0; Tulane turned back Detroit 25-0 and the Citadel downed Wofford 40-8.

Out West, unbeaten Oregon topped San Jose State 35-12 and Utah defeated Brigham Young 20-8.

Georgia Tech, rated No. 8, meets toughie Tennessee, No. 8, in the feature game in the South. It also is a Southeastern Conference game.

Another Southern bigwig, Mississippi, No. 5, goes against Vanderbilt in another Southeastern Conference clash, while Purdue, No. 7 (sixth-ranked Southern California is idle) will have its hands full witheth-rated Wisconsin in a Big 10 game.

Iowa, No. 10, had a Big 10 date with Michigan State. The Hawkeyes were heavy favorites.

Everyone Plays Tie This Week In NFL

The way things have been going in the National Football League, this is the week everybody plays a tie.

For eight of the 12 NFL teams, it's been a win one, lose one proposition in the first two weeks. The only unbeaten teams, the San Francisco 49ers and Green Bay Packers—both 2-0, were among those tabbed in preseason estimates as least likely to succeed.

One of the two winless clubs, Los Angeles (0-2 along with Detroit's Lions), was figured a top challenger to World Champion Baltimore's Western Division crown.

Things are so jumbled, all six Eastern Division clubs are 1-1—all tied for the top and bottom.

The schedule, first six-game Sunday slate of the year, puts the unbeaten — San Francisco and Green Bay—against each other at Green Bay. The Packers, who've blended a toughened defense and spruced-up offense under Coach Vince Lombardi into victories over the Chicago Bears and the Lions, are tabbed a three-point favorite.

In the others, Baltimore is a seven-point pick over the Lions at Detroit, the Rams 7½-point underdogs to the Bears at Chicago, the New York Giants 3½ underdogs to the Browns at Cleveland, the Philadelphia Eagles two-point choices over the Pittsburgh Steelers at Philadelphia, and the Chicago Cards and the Redskins pick 'em at Washington.

'31' Magic Number For Football Player

MORRICE, Mich. (AP)—No matter what he did on the football field for Morrize Friday night, Dick Warren came up with the number 31.

Warren wore No. 31 on his jersey as Morrize beat Genesee 31-0. He scored all of his team's 31 points.

Eleven times Warren carried the ball. He gained 345 yards. It comes out to an average of 31 yards a carry.

Beaver Creek Club To Hold Turkey Shoot

The Beaver Creek Sportsman Club of Washingtonville will hold a turkey and trap shoot Sunday afternoon at the club range, one-quarter mile north of town on the Canfield Road.

Turkey shoots will begin at 1, followed by trap shooting. The club will furnish shells for the turkey shots while trap shoots are optional. The public is invited to participate.

First Open Letter

To The Citizens Of Salem

Abraham Lincoln, in his famous Gettysburg Address described the type of government to which all American citizens are entitled as a government "OF the people, BY the people and FOR the people."

When we, as citizens, cast our votes in the primary elections, we create a government OF the people — we choose our candidates from among our neighbors. When we vote in the general elections we create a government BY the people — we choose our elected officials.

However, the officials we elect to public office and they alone have the power to carry out the third guarantee — a government FOR the people.

We must, therefore, choose our officials with great care if we are to get a government FOR the people. To make this choice effectively we need to know what qualities such a government must possess.

Basically, such a government must give us three things: ECONOMY — the best possible service while staying within the limits of available funds; CAPABILITY — accomplishment of the tasks we set out for it in the best possible manner; and HONESTY — the use of funds entrusted to the officials exactly as they are supposed to be used and for no other purpose.

Carefully examine the records of the Republican candidates in the forthcoming city elections for ECONOMY, CAPABILITY and HONESTY. Compare the record of their opponents. Clearly, the Republican candidates offer you ECONOMY, CAPABILITY and HONESTY in government — they offer a government which is truly FOR the people.

You are sincerely urged, therefore, to vote for these candidates — VOTE REPUBLICAN NOVEMBER THIRD!

The second letter in this series will appear in this Newspaper on October 17.

Sponsored by the SALEM AREA REPUBLICAN CLUB, Thomas Coe, Chairman.

Questions and Answers

Q — How does a lunar rainbow differ from one produced by the sun?
A — Occasionally, a rainbow is formed by the light of the moon. The feebleness of the light paints the glowing bow in very faint colors, which are difficult to observe. The moon's rainbow differs from the sun's only in intensity of color.
Q — Who was the only woman judge of Israel?
A — Deborah.

Borrowing Costs Remaining Stable

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

Desite all you have read about the growing cost of money, you should know that:

If you are about to make a purchase on the installment plan, if you are seeking a loan from a finance company or a credit union or possibly even from your bank, you will not be paying more than you did last year or last month. There is but one exception to this fact.

Here is the reason why borrowing costs for consumers are remaining stable:

States have laws ruling on the rate a lender may charge a borrower. Despite the fact that money is tighter (that is, the demand for loans is greater and the cost to banks of borrowing money themselves is higher), to date no state laws have been amended to permit any financial institution to pass these higher costs on to you.

IN RECENT YEARS, big city banks have moved aggressively into the small loan business. They've built terrific volume in lending you money for automobile purchases, to improve your home, pay your bills. In order to get you as a customer they have charged bargain basement rates and because of the volume of their business have still been able to operate at a profit. It is only when you deal with these big banks that you will discover that a loan will cost more—50 cents more per $100 per year. This increase will be only the third in more than 30 years that commercial banks have offered consumer loans. This bank rate still is relatively low.

If you have borrowed from banks in smaller towns, where competition for your business is not so keen, you may already have paid $6 per $100 discounted, the legal limit. Have no fear, this rate is expected to remain unchanged.

If you have subscribed to one of the many check credit plans now offered by commercial banks, you are generally paying the legal limit already for the money you borrow. The reason? Banks find it more costly to offer this kind of a loan than a straight personal loan. Here again, you'll see no change in rate.

Finance companies are permitted to charge one and one-half per cent per month on the reducing balance of a loan up to $500 and one per cent per month on loans over $500. For the most part, this is what they have been charging and what they will continue to charge.

ON STRAIGHT TIME payment loans, the permitted fee has been $10 per $100 up to the first $500 borrowed and $8 per $100 on loans over $500. No change is expected in these charges either in the immediate future for it takes months, even years sometimes, to amend laws. The thinking among credit men is that the current phase of tight money will loosen before any changes are enacted.

The big differences that you may spot when you go to borrow in coming months may be these:

The banks will be less eager to lend, especially if you seek longer-term loans. Companies and not individuals, however, will have the most difficulty—unless you are out to raise mortgage money.

And the finance companies will court you with even greater eagerness. Since the money they lend you will cost them more, they will be anxious to build volume. Competition in their area of financing is growing daily, since more and more manufacturers are now getting into the act of financing the consumer sales of their products.

In the last glow of the sunset, this sailboat seems to be alone in the vastness of the sea. And yet it isn't. Were this boat suddenly to get into trouble, helping hands would swiftly come to the rescue.

So it is with life. At times you may feel very much alone—yet in reality you are not. For if you didn't have a single friend in the world, you would have the Church.

The Church welcomes everyone—and that's a pretty big thing when you stop to think about it. It means that always there is a door open to you. You have but to turn the knob.

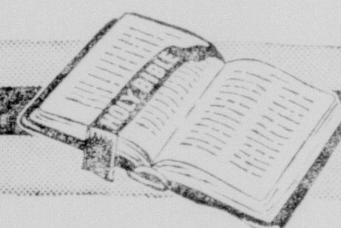

Chart a new course for yourself. Start going to church. When you do, you'll find that your voyage through life has acquired fresh purpose.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
